Some Interesting Facts Anent the Keator Case-Jockey Club Stewards Acted -Stake Events to Be Decided at the Beach This Week-Entries for To-day.

Wherever turimen congregated yesterday the proposed meeting between Sysonby and Artful at Brighton Beach next Thursda was widely discussed, with the express hope that both James R. Keene and Harr Payne Whitney would readily accept the liberal offer of a $10,000 purse made by C. Fitzgerald in behalf of the Brighton Beau Racing Association. Sysonby is not engage until a week from Thursday, when he w start in the Iroquois Stakes. As he w kept out of the Brighton Handicap simp for the reason that Trainer Rowe believe that he had done enough in winning the Commonwealth Handicap, the Tidal and the Lawrence Realization Stakes inside of to days, Sysonby will have had a good rest he meets Artful at a mile and a furlong Thursday, carrying weight for age. Artfu after her great triumph on Saturday in t Brighton Handicap, pulled up in splend shape, although she had a slight cut on h off hind leg near the hock. Whether th of the proposed match remains to be see It was said yesterday that Trainer Roge did not think that Artful was keyed up ju yet to the pitch necessary for such a grueli affair as a meeting with Sysonby would surely be and for that reason Rogers might advise Mr. Whitney to decline the offer of Mr. Fitz-gerald. But this was only a rumor circulated among horsemen who had no direct means of communicating with Rogers or his em-That Mr. Whitney was surprised at Artful's showing in the $25,000 handicap there was no doubt. The Hamburg filly had been under the weather during the early part of the season and Mr. Whitney was not sure by sr.y means that she would beat Ort Wells and Beldame. But when she took the measure of these horses in the easiest possible manner, simply breezing in front all the way, Mr. Whitney was convined that in Artful he had one of the greatest race mares this country has ever seen. Mr. Whitney, like his father, is a sportsman. He loves a good horse and races a big stable purely for the amusement and excitement to be derived from it. He wants to own the greatest horse of the time, and if Artful can be sent to the post absolutely at her best, Mr. Whitney will insist upon a meeting with Sysonby Mr. Keene, also a sportsman of worldwide renown, believes he has the horse of the century. Sysonby is a public idol and so is Art-ful. A fair, square proposition has been made to the owners of these remarkable three-yearolds to satisfy a general public demand for a race, and unless there are reasons over which Messrs. Whitney and Keene have no control the army of metropolitan turf enthusiasts expects to see the match clinched to-day. The stewards at Brighton, with Mr. Fitzgerald presiding, have instituted a policy of keeneyed scrunity into the races which racegoers cannot help commending. While develop-ments will show that there was nothing of a shady nature connected with the running of Keator last week, which was investigated by the stewards, the action of the officials has been backed up by the public, which pays the freight and which will insist that nobody is spared in future. Whether a horse is wned by a steward of the Jockey Club or by a get-rich-quick man, the public believes the men in the stand should take a poor race consideration without fear or favor The Eastern turf has become this year the stamping ground for many sharp operators who formerly did business in the West. These newcomers have been brought up in a school of their own and have been led to believe that the chances for tricks on the Jockey Club tracks are numerous and practically without interference. But if the present vigilance at the Beach is kept up some of these slick individuals may come to grief. But there is such a thing as overdoing this business of probing turf scandals, so-called. The elements of racing, coupled sometimes with an unlooked for combination of circumstances, may be responsible at times for the performances of horses whose owners are above reproach and whose trainers are on There are so many excuses to be offered in the event of defeat that it is a most of guilt. A hot favorite may be left at the post. may get away so poorly that he is knocked about or pocketed. Then again a superior lot of horses, with the public making him a false choice. A rattled jockey can also be the means of causing the downfall of a public idol, even when he seems to have a race completely at his mercy.

In the Keator case it may be said that when Newton Bennington sold him to Frank Farrell the Charaxus gelding was unsound in limb. otherwise he would not have been disposed of. Keator's legs were carefully treated until he was apparently as sound as a ten dollar gold piece. In this condition he won a couple of impressive races from horses of inferior class. His stock boomed, and the word was passed around that he was invincible. On Wednesday last, the day before his now memorable race, Keator developed a slight lameness. It was simply a return of the old ailment, and the trainer, Weir, was confiden that he could have the Charaxus gelding as be the best. Maiden jockeys will ride in the first race for platers, at a mile and a sixteenth, with Jocund, Elwood, Lady Jocelyn, Jetsam, Arabo and Masaniello possibly the most formidable. In the handicap steeple-chase Pagan Bey, Knight of Harlem, Sir Voorhees and Thornhedge will probably find support. Two-year-olds will run in the third event, at five and a half furlongs, Yankee Consul meeting a fair lot of youngsters to whom he must concede weight. Go Between has the top weight in the handicap at nine furlongs, with Garnish, Wotan, St. Valentine, Buttling, Tyron, Ostrich, Marmee and others to beat. Maiden fillies and mares three years old and upward will provide the last race, at six furlongs, with My Buela, St. Roma, Grand Duchesse, Duchess Oillie, Maid of Timbuctoo and Lady Prudence having chances. TOO HOT FOR SPEEDWAY CRACKS. Princess Plane Seeks Brushes Among the Pacers-Reuben S. a Winner.

Hot weather had a depressing effect on Speedway sport yesterday. Those who braved the midsummer sun saw a short. sharp program of sport that more than balanced the adverse conditions.

J. H. Lawrence, driving the bay pacer Reuben S., 2:00¼, figured among the best winners of the morning. In his first start Reuben S. met the Grand Circuit trotter James Shevlin, 2:13%, driven by Henry Phillips, and he won without bringing his owner to a drive. Building Commissioner Isaac A. Hopper's pacer Black Belle was the next competitor Reuben S. met, and he put the fleet mare in second place without being

It was a fast field that turned with Reuben S. in the next brush. S. T. De Lee, driv-ing the bay pacer Mary Jane, was the only one to get away with Reuben S. on even terms. Carrie C., driven by A. G. Vermilye, danced about until she lost all chance of winning. Better Luck, a chestnut pacer driven by S. W. Heinzer, got away in the rear and was taken in hand. Reuben S. won easily. Mr. De Lee took Mary Jane in hand when he found he could not win.
Better Luck and Carrie C. had two keen tilts single hand that ranked among the best of the morning. Better Luck won the first by a length, the second was a drive from start to finish and the finish was heads apart, with Carrie C. in front.

Lehman Strauss introduced a new candidate for Speedway honors in the black trotter Etelka Maid, 2:19%, driven by Isaac Fleming. The Maid showed just how good she was by finishing in front of Henry Phillips's bay trotter James Shevlin, 2:13%, after a spirited Christopher Hackett's chestnut pacer King

Tom, 2:19% was in fine fettle. The best race King Tom won was when he finished in front of George Huber's bay pacer Harry Van. 2:21. with S. T. De Lee's pacer Mary Jane in third place. The finish between King Tom and Harry Van was very close, and had not the latter jumped from his stride right at the fin-ish he would have won.

Thomas Leahy's winning matinée trotter, Princess Pique, 2:11% was in fine form. There was no trotter present in her class, so the Princess Pique, 2:114, was in nne form. There was no trotter present in her class, so the owner was obliged to take on a pacer. His first start was made with Christopher Hackett's iKing Tom, 2:1914 After a head and head brush almost to the inish King Tom jumped from his stride and then he was easily beaten. The black pacer David Muscovite, 2:1715, driven by B. W. Hinds was the next good thing Princess Pique met. This tilt was fast and close until well below the quartermile post, where David Muscovite declared himself out with a bad break James A. Murphy drove the Speedway champion Don Derby, 2:0434, but no one ventured to tackle him. Then he got up behind Free Advice, 2:1034, but the crowd seemed shy of the half mile crack. Finally S. W. Heinzer, driving the pacer Better Luck, took a shy at Free Advice, but it did not prove a thrilling contest. Free Advice simply made it a runaway race.

PRO'S AT VAN CORTLANDT

OVER FIFTY ENTERED FOR PLAY WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

London Comment on C. B. Macdonald's Proposed Club-New Fixtures for Apawamis-Moller to Make Long Golf Run -Egan on Losing Team at Exmoor.

Professionals will meet on the Van Cortandt links Wednesday and Thursday in a seventy-two hole medal play competition, for which $500 has been subscribed in prize money. It is proposed to make the competition an annual affair, and as it is the first contest of the sort ever held on a public links in this country a large turnout of onlookers is expected. The many zealous golfers who play at Van Cortlandt should be improved in their style and game by the object lesson to be given by the experts. The field will include Will Anderson, the open champion; Aleck Smith, George Low, John Hobens, Bernard Nicholls and fifty others.

The annual championship of the Connecticut Golf Association will begin on Wednes-day at the New Haven Country Club, with entries from every links in the Nutmeg State.

Charles B. Macdonald is the sponsor of the new club which as soon as suitable ground can be secured is to lay out an eighteen hole links that will contain no bad holes and as many reproductions of the most famous holes on the British links as can be introduced into the round. The money needed has been subscribed and the work on the course, which will take three or four years to complete, may soon be started. Golf Illustrated of June 23 contains this comment: lustrated of June 23 contains this comment:

The idea is conceeded to be feasible, while the plan to purchase the needed acreage and the expenditure of more than $100,000 on the course is at present considered possible. If the millionaire golfers deride that the venture is worth investing in they would pay $1,000 each for the privilege of holding a membership and a land asset in the club down on Long Island. However, the $200 basis men would merely have the right to a participating ownership.

From the present signs, as regards the course, it seems that Mr. Macdonald is anxious to reproduce as nearly as possible some of the St. Andrews and Prestwick hoies. How he will bring this about is difficult to imagine, unless a combined attack is made some dark night on the British shores and the holes and putting greens are carried bodily away. Despite these few triffing and apparent difficulties, the links, it is said, will ultimately reproduce some of the world's most famous holes as nearly as topographical conditions will permit.

An assessment of $30 has been made on members by the Garden City Golf Club to defray the cost of an extension on the club-house, to be used for a drying room. A shop for the professional will be included in the John Moller, Jr., who made a good showing in the Apawamis Club tournament, will not be again on a nearby links until the fall. He will start this morning with Mrs. Moller on an automobile tour of the New England links, a 2,000 mile itinerary, remaining for a day or two at each course visited. The first run will be to Boston, the points therefiter being Poland Springs, Me.; Waumbek, N. H.; over Mount Washington to Lake Champlain, Lake George, Lake Luzerne and Saratoga, Manchester, Vt., and thence to Williamstown, Mass., and through the Berkshires, stopping at Pittsfield, Lenox and Stockbridge, where Moller will play in the open tournament in Sept. 5, 6, 7 and 8.

The five years of its existence has ripened the Apawamis course into a nearly perfect stretch of verdure. The early work of Malcolin Graham and Maturin Ballou on the green committee is now carried on by U. D. Eddy and W. T. Mathews, with splendid success. The tendency to put in bunkers is not countenanced by the committee, who hold that as only four of the ninety-six starters in the qualifying round could get under 80 the test of golf is now sufficiently stringent. "We first worked to get a fair green," remarked F. S. Wheeler of the committee, "then fine putting greens and we now hate to mar the fine turf by cutting out pot traps and side hazards." The five years of its existence has ripened Jerome D. Travers redeemed himself from the accusation of lacking energy in matches and proved himself to be a very promising young golfer. He tied the amateur record of Findlay Douglas with 73 at medal play and in the six rounds had a total of 474 strokes, with every put run down, which gave an average to him of 79.

F. H. Thomas of the Morris County Golf Club had a 3 on the 512 yard fourth hole at Apawamis, which equals J. D. Foot's 3 on the 537 yard hole at Garden city. The Apawamis members are talking of an October tournament open to all players who will own to 50 years of age. The following fix-tures will follow the tournament: tures will follow the tournament: July 15, bogy handicap; July 22, qualifying round for president's cup; July 29, handicap, final for governor's cup and first round for president's cup; Aug. 5, bogy handicap; Aug. 12, medal play handicap; Aug. 19, handicap; Aug. 26, bogy handi-cap.

President Thomas of the United States Golf Association has appointed as a nominating committee to select the ticket for 1906 G. Herbert Windeler of Brookline, Devereaux Emmet of Garden (ity and David R. Forgan of Onwentsia. The candidates selected for the various offices must be named at least thirty days prior to the annual meeting, which will be held in January next year. The other annual meetings have been in February.

H. Chandler Egan, the amateur champion, and Walter Egan were on the Exmoor team in the annual match for the Marshall Field trophy on Saturday, over the Exmoor links Midlothian, which also won in 1904, carried off the trophy for the year, the team finishing 1 up on a bogy. The Midlothian players were Kenneth Edwards, the Western interscholastic champion; Mason E. Phelps and O. W. Potter, all of whom played for the team last year, and R. E. Hunter and Charles Comstock, Jr. Wheaton was second, 13 down, and Exmoor and Onwentsia were next at 19 down. Nine other teams took part. The Ravenswood team finished last at 100 down.

Twenty finished in spite of the heat in the monthly handicap of the Richmond County Country Club on Saturday, the first four in each class to qualify for the July cup, presented by C. D. Simons, Jr. Charles T. Stout won the gross honors with 78. The summary:

BATTING AND FIELDING WORK.

FIGURES FOR THREE GREATER NEW YORK TEAMS.

Keeler, Clarke, Donlin, Strang, Bresnahan and Hall in the Smart Set With the Willow-Long Hits and Stolen Bases -Records of the Different Pitchers.

Clarke Griffith's performances with the oat last week have at last given him a batting average. Incidentally, it is a rare record for a man to have nothing but extra base wallops in his hit column. There now is only one player in the three teams of Greater New York who has not made a hit. That is escher, one of Brooklyn's pitchers, who has not played a game for nearly two weeks. Keeler is the leader of the Americans, with .310. Chase was a handy lad with the willow last week, and now has .255, as well as third place. Yeager and Fultz are not doing at all well, but Elberfeld is coming strong. He has moved up three places and is batting nearly 20 points better than before. It is interesting to compare the work of Chase and McGann, who happen to have taken part in exactiv the same number of games-sixty-three. McGann has made hits out of 241 times at bat, for a percentage of 290, while the younger player has made 59 hits out of 231 times at bat. McGann has more put outs by 84, and 10 less errors. Notwithstanding, it is an exceptional showing for the young Westerner, who is improving as a ball player every minute of the season. It is hard to show up well against an expert like McGann, but Chase does not show badly by comparison. Donlin, Strang and Bresnahan all are in the 300 class among the National Leaguers. There is a general improvement all along the line in the New York team. Twelve of the line in the New York team. Twelve of the players are batting 285 or over. Browne and Wiltse both show comforting improvement. Dahlen has a total of stolen bases only four behind Devlin's 26. Twenty-two more bases were stolen by the Champions last week.

Hall is proving himself a worthy man among the Brooklyns, and his batting clip of .329 for nineteen games makes him look like a real good ballplayer. The averages, including last Saturday's games, follow:

The biggest gain in either major league last week was made by the New York Americans, who advanced 49 points, playing eight games, winning six, losing one and tving one. Seven out of the eight games were played against a second division team, and the Western games will be a more conclusive test of whether the spurt is to be permanent or merely temporary; but it was not a weak opponent, but strong, all around ball playing that enabled the Griffith coterie to accomplish what it did last week. Next to the New York Americans, the Brooklyns of the National League made the biggest gain, boosting their percentage 32 points, which represents four victories and two defeats. The New York Nationals won four games and lost two last week, but in their case this represents a gain of only two points, their exalted position in the race making victories much less in points than defeats. Today the New Yorks play the Brooklyns again, and if they win they will have won the season's series from the Brooklyns. However, there is little doubt that they will do that, even should they lose to-day. They have already won the season's series from the Bostons. Last week's gains and losses in the two leagues follow:

National League—New York gained 2 points, Pittaburg gained 16. Philadelphia lost 3. Chicago the two leagues follow:
